Your Feedback Helps Guide Quality City Services

The City of Olathe seeks feedback from residents in a number of ways, one of which is the DirectionFinder® citizen survey. You may be familiar with the survey or even completed one. Residents have provided feedback through these statistically-valid surveys since 2000.

“The citizen survey is a critical guidance tool for us as we invest and apply resources in areas citizens say are most important,” says City Manager Michael Wilkes.

In 2013, the frequency of citizen surveys increased from annually to quarterly, allowing better tracking and the ability for greater proactive measures when necessary.

“We want to know: Are citizens satisfied? Have their priorities shifted?” says Wilkes. “If we notice a trend of decreasing satisfaction in an area, the increased feedback gives City departments flexibility to correct the issue sooner than later.”

Tell Us More

Through citizen feedback mechanisms, data, and analytics, City departments have more information to work collaboratively, solving problems to provide residents better services. For example, a discussion about non-injury accident rates revealed there was a correlation of accident rates with construction projects. This resulted in a joint effort between the Public Works and Police Departments to increase awareness and improve safety in these accident-prone areas.

In addition to DirectionFinder® surveys, the City of Olathe is using other tools to get citizen input. For example, following neighborhood street resurfacing projects, residents are asked to rate the project. The near real-time feedback is important to ensure the City is improving and contractors are meeting the City’s standards.

Citizen information collected about streets and other services is incorporated in Olathe’s performance measures, available at: OlatheKS.org/Government/Performance-Management. An Olathe Performs public dashboard is updated quarterly.

Users of the citizen request service, OlatheConnect, are requested to complete a brief five-question survey to ensure requests for service and information are resolved adequately and in a timely manner.

Your resident feedback helps enhance your customer experience and improve service delivery.

Coming in the Spring Olathe Link: How City of Olathe Services Rate - Nationally and Locally
One of the best things about Olathe is the growing collaboration among our community partners. I’m particularly grateful for the City’s partnerships with Olathe Public Schools, which are bringing additional educational opportunities to help keep our talented youth here in our community.

In recent years, we’ve expanded our school partnerships to include more involvement in 21st Century Academies at our public high schools, including the new Public Safety Academy at Olathe West High School. We couldn’t be happier that enrollment in the Academy has exceeded expectations, and we have the opportunity to “home grow” our future police, fire, and emergency medical professionals.

The City’s assistance with the new Civic Leadership Academy at Olathe East High School is vital to our community, as we help give youth a greater understanding of the importance and nobility of public service careers. Our professional City staff participate in community discussions related to finance, planning, and leadership, helping prepare students for public service and legal studies. We are also exploring opportunities to work collaboratively with students and universities to support the new Green Tech Academy at Olathe West High School.

The Fire and Police Departments’ third-grade education program provides memorable fire and life safety lessons, with tools including a traveling fire safety house and workbook containing life-saving information. The program offers interactive experiences for students, who learn how to “stop, drop, and roll,” develop home fire escape plans, and discover the importance of smoke alarms.

Third graders also participate in the “Learning About Olathe” program, now in its 13th year. Students make day-long field trips to City Hall and the Public Works Department, taking part in a mock City Council meeting and learning about City services and equipment.

We are proud of our Communities That Care (CTC) Coalition, representing organizations like Johnson County Government, Olathe Health, Olathe Public Schools, and the faith-based community. CTC supports community leaders working to encourage positive youth development and address underage drinking, prescription drug misuse, and suicide prevention.

Internships are also offered in departments throughout our City organization, providing students valuable experience and interaction in the workplace. These are a few examples of our successful school partnerships, and you can learn about many more at OlatheKS.org/Government/Collaboration. As our community continues to evolve, rest assured that Olathe will continue seeking ways to support our youth through partnerships. It’s one of the greatest investments we can make in Olathe’s future.

Sincerely,

Michael Copeland
Mayor

Get Fit with Fire

If you’re bored with your current workout, “Fit with Fire” classes may be for you. These classes, taught by certified firefighter instructors, take place in the bay of Olathe Fire Station No. 1.

The workouts incorporate fire service movements into a high level of activity—think pulling heavy fire hoses and training dummies.

“There’s always curiosity about firefighter physical training and this is a new and different way to help people meet their fitness goals. Having classes at a fire station also helps participants learn more about what we do,” says Fire Chief Jeff DeGraffenreid.

The Olathe Fire Department is the first fire department in Johnson County to invite the community to work out with firefighters. To enroll, visit OlatheKS.org/ParksRec and click on Olathe ACTIVE Registration.

Save a Life – Learn CPR

The Olathe Fire Department is offering more free cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) classes to the community to provide a life-saving tool in the event of cardiac arrest.

“We have classes at the Fire Administration Building, or we’ll go to those who request CPR training,” says Fire Chief Jeff DeGraffenreid. “The Fire Department has conducted hands-only CPR training at libraries, City swimming pools, and even during half-time at school basketball games.”

Can’t make it to a class? A Family & Friends CPR Anytime training DVD is available for home use. The DVD training is available in English and Spanish languages.

In 2017, 52.6 percent of those stricken received CPR before Fire and EMS arrived at the scene.

“Bottom line: our goal is to have as many people possible CPR-trained for the best outcome for the public,” says DeGraffenreid. For more information, call 913-971-7900.

A View from the Mountaintop
More than 325 people attended the 18th Annual Martin Luther King, Jr. Celebration on January 14 at the Bell Cultural Events Center on the MNU campus. This year’s theme, “A View from the Mountaintop,” featured performances and honored student contest winners among the 4,300 entries from Olathe middle and high schools.

The MLK Celebration encourages Olathe students of all ages to promote purpose-driven service, and a society free of bullying, discrimination, and maltreatment of others based on race, gender, or religious beliefs.

Mohamed Farid, Chisholm Trail Middle School, won Best in Show for his multimedia entry in the 2018 Martin Luther King, Jr. student contest. The contest also included essay and visual entries.
You Did It Again
You achieved another record for waste diversion in 2017! “We know that Olathe residents are committed to recycling, and these numbers show that,” says Mary Jaeger, public works director. “With more waste diverted from the landfill this year, we are making a positive impact on the environment.”
2018 Street Preservation

Adopt-A-Street, Adopt-A-Stream Volunteers Provide Valued Services
With spring around the corner, now is an excellent time to consider organizing an Adopt-A-Street or Adopt-A-Stream volunteer group. These important volunteers help keep streets and streams clean. They beautify the city and help with stormwater management by keeping debris out of storm drains and local waterways. This helps reduce erosion and the potential for downstream flooding.

The City provides groups with trash bags, gloves, and t-shirts for participating members. After the cleanup event, City crews pick up the trash bags and take them to the solid waste transfer station.

Those interested in adopting a street or stream can find more information and sign up at OlatheKS.org. Select “I Want to Volunteer.” There is also a link to a map showing street and stream areas available for adoption.
